The concept of looking to a catalog for a home design began hundreds of years ago in the form of Pattern Books which played a role in the building of thousands of the finest buildings in America.

In 1988, Stephen Fuller continued this tradition by producing Home Plan Collections that inspired the housing industry in a more unique medium. Fuller revolutionized the home design process by introducing these high quality portfolio's of homes in the form of printed catalog's - the first to be printed in over seventy years.

Today, Stephen is once again setting a new trend in the home building industry by using today's technology to offer digital booklets to greatly enhance your experience of searching for a home design to meet the needs of you and your family. We hope you enjoy browsing our new home plans!

ABOUT STEPHEN FULLER

“We are excited about the possibility of working with you on the design of your new home. Please settle in and enjoy this initial worksheet process of getting to know what you want to see reflected in your final home design. We look forward to working with you!”

In a notable career, Stephen Fuller has received more than 40 awards of excellence for superior design, including three “Best In American Living” commendations from the National Association of Home Builders. Though Stephen believes that professional accolades are gratifying he mostly believes that just as meaningful are the countless affirmations he hears from families who draw unending pleasure and comfort from his creativity. Stephen Fuller’s instinctively fresh approach gives his designs noted personality.

With Stephen there is always a surprising newness, even in his respectful interpretations of long loved styles. Instead of expected corners, you’ll see sunlight bathing open spaces. In place of rote predictability, you’ll find sensitive responses to family needs. And in every room you will spot the signature accents that underscore true quality.

Through his designs, Stephen Fuller gives expression to an abiding philosophy, that a home should live in harmony with its surrounds, and that tradition should live in harmony with time. A Stephen Fuller home is more than a residence; it is a thoughtful balance between nature and man. It is a place where the best of the past coexists with the demands – and opportunities – of today. These are the secrets that open the door to livable, functional style that is always elegant and distinctive about Stephen Fuller designs.

In the tradition of the great American architects that have come before us, Stephen Fuller designs homes with soul and heritage, based on architectural principles of scale, proportion, and historical precedent.

From conceptual drawings through construction administration, his custom design process leads clients to a true manifestation of their dreams, with details, charm and character you'd expect from Stephen Fuller.

"Whether built on a sloping mountain side or on a typical suburban lot, we design homes that homeowners will long to return to when they have traveled to distant places."

“There is no part of a house that should not be thoughtfully considered. Each small detail plays a role and adds to the overall sculpture that is the home.” – Stephen Fuller
